NEW QUESTION: 1

Point-and-click generation of case statement logic can be accessed via which option?

- A. Compound Layout
- B. Column Formula-> Bins tab
- C. Column Properties -> Conditional Format tab
- D. Advanced Tab
- E. Subject Area metrics

Answer: B

Explanation:

The "Edit Column Formula" dialog box has a second, very tiny tab called, "Bins." You can use this tab to have OBIEE build a CASE statement for you in a formula (you can also create a CASE statement yourself by using one of the functions that appears under "Expressions" if you want). A CASE statement is a lot like an IF-THEN-ELSE statement, except that it's a little easier to read when you have multiple options. Basically, it puts values in different buckets that you define.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution that might meet the stated goals. Some question sets might have more than one correct solution, while others might not have a correct solution.

After you answer a question in this section, you will NOT be able to return to it. As a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.

You are designing an Azure solution for a company that has four departments. Each department will deploy several Azure app services and Azure SQL databases.

You need to recommend a solution to report the costs for each department to deploy the app services and the databases. The solution must provide a consolidated view for cost reporting that displays cost broken down by department.

Solution: Create a resource group for each resource type.

Assign tags to each resource group.

Does the solution meet the goal?

- A. Yes
- B. No

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Tags enable you to retrieve related resources from different resource groups. This approach is helpful when you need to organize resources for billing or management.
